Vol. 71

This book is dedicated to those who made DLU the success it is today.

Alexander Campbell, who played a pivotal role in the Restoration Movement, founded Bethany College in West Virginia, where James A. Harding attended school.

James A. Harding was zealous and spirited. He and Lipscomb complemented each other in temperament, resulting in a driving force seasoned with experience.

David Lipscomb was reserved and wise, acting to guide Harding's enthusiasm.

In the Beginning

With deepest gratitude and respect, this book is dedicated to two men with a vision for the future, a vision for the Lord — David Lipscomb and James A. Harding, founders of the institution which has evolved into what is now David Lipscomb University. One hundred years ago, working under the influence of the reformer Alexander Campbell, who was instrumental in restoring the Lord's church after years of denominational sway, David Lipscomb shared with friend James Harding his idea for a school whose primary purpose was to prepare students for lives spent in Christ's service, including imparting to students good citizenship and trade skills. On October 5, 1891, the Nashville Bible School opened as the embodiment of Lipscomb's dream.

The school that began with nine students has grown to have an enrollment of more than 2200 and has naturally undergone many significant changes in a century. Changing times have of necessity altered the nature of education at this institution — the college experience is unarguably different from that of the late nineteenth century. However, despite 100 years' worth of inevitable change, numerous similarities remain. The heart of Lipscomb is still the effort to know God by individuals who emphasize a relationship with the Lord on a day-to-day basis. Daily Bible classes and chapel assemblies carry on the traditions set forth by the school's founders. It is with honor that the heritage of David Lipscomb University is recalled at its centennial, as students of today realize that, with regard to Lipscomb, the more things change, the more they stay the same.

Lipscomb students of the past put in their time in the library studying. Their counterparts of the present carried on these activities in excellent new facilities.

Reviewing for his next test, Garrett Griffin studies old quizzes. Many students used the newly constructed walls for a place to study.

Students relax in their room in Lindsay Hall, the first men's dorm on this campus. The dorm burned down in 1929, the same session in which the girls' dorm burned.

Watching their step, students leave the student center during a snowfall. Students usually take advantage of a snowfall to have some fun.

The Same Pastimes

What went on with students on the Lipscomb campus? New facilities, such as the DLU Library, the Student Activities Center, and the intramural field enhanced student life here noticeably. Despite all these changes, students took part in the same activities as before; they just enjoyed more plush surroundings. Exercising, studying, and socializing were key facets of student life just as they were years ago.

When it came to studying, students went through the same routine. They went to the library with plans to get all homework done there before curfew. However, they often failed to do so because they ended up talking to friends about how much work they had instead of actually doing it. So what did they do about the unfinished homework later? They called Domino's and ended up with their faces in their books and their hands in a pizza box until the wee hours of the morning.

As for health and fitness, the SAC and the new intramural field supplied a new outlook. Intramurals were a part of many students' lives, whether they played on a social club team or on an independent team or cheered. Intramural sports were played both on the new field and in the SAC. Also in the SAC were students running, body-building, playing volleyball, basketball, and racquetball, shooting pool, etc. The DLU student body caught on to the increasingly popular health trend across America. Even if some students did not work out, they often showed up in the SAC to see which ones did.

— Tammy Renee Rogers

Lipscomb has always had a positive influence on the community. During the centennial party, DLU celebrated its contributions to religious service.

During a daily chapel service, students have the opportunity to commune with their Lord. Chapel provides a respite from the hassles of the school day.

Singing is an uplifting part of the chapel meetings in which all in attendance blend their voices in praise to God.

In an integral part of the Lipscomb tradition, Students of the 1990's are instructed in scripture just as were students of the 1940's, for example.

Parents and other visitors worship with college students of years past, when members of the community frequently visited Lipscomb's chapel services.

Influence for Good

The spiritual atmosphere on campus centered on one basic biblical principle, love. Love for others encouraged the unique atmospere of the Lipscomb campus, while love for God showed as students and faculty came together in daily chapel services to worship God and in Bible classes to learn more about him.

As a part of these worship assemblies and classroom meetings, students and faculty often faced and examined controversial issues. Together they sat with opened Bibles to determine plausible answers to the questions that rose. Devotionals were held every night as another response to these situations. In dorm rooms, on the steps of buildings and even in Bison Square, students and teachers found opportunities to study, sing and pray together while searching God's word.

The spiritual climate on campus was also influenced by activities privided by the Spiritual Life Committee. Service groups such as the Inner City Ministry and Circle K, as well as individual students who were involved with projects such as the Union Mission, also played a part in the spiritual development of the school as a whole. These things enhanced the feeling of service and direction at DLU.

The individuals of David Lipscomb University have different opinions on various issues, but they share Christ's love and a common purpose, to grow spiritually and to become more unified and more like Christ. The prayer for the future of this school is that it will positively influence the spiritual lives it touches and that they in turn will share what they receive with the souls in their world.

Still on the Ball

Lipscomb was not only known for its excellence in academics, but it was renowned for its sports teams as well. Having existed 100 years, the school's athletic programs have evolved over time as follows:

1922 — DLC plays its first baseball games
1923 — Lipscomb stresses no intercollegiate athletics
1924 — Burton Gymnasium is built for $17,000
1926 — DLC forms high school basketball team
1936 — First year of high school football
1937 — Intramurals are introduced
1938 — Bison basketball has first 20-win season
1939 — Bison baseball team wins Mississippi Valley Conference
1940 — Bison basketball hosts first MVC tournament
1943 — Bison basketball wins third straight MVC title
1947 — Bison golf team wins first VSAC championship
1949 — McQuiddy Gymnasium is built
1956 — Lipscomb introduces track team
1957 — Bison baesball team wins VSAC title
1958 — Inter-class football with pads begins
1960 — Bison baseball team wins VSAC title
1961 — Bison basketball team wins VSAC tournament
1962 — Bison gymnastics team wins junior division championship
1963 — Cross country team wins VSAC title
1965 — Tennis team goes to first NAIA tourny
1967 — Golf team has best year ever

Bison Coach Don Meyer discusses strategy with his players during a time-out huddle. Meyer has led the Bisons to an average of 31 wins per year for the last ten years.

Four-time All American Philip Hutcheson shoots to break tha college basketball all-time scoring record, which he did with a career 4106 points.

Gina Brady puts up a shot against Belmont at Vanderbilt Memorial Gymnasium. The Bisons and Lady Bisons sold out the gym for the "Battle of the Boulevard," which Lipscomb swept. Later that year the Lady Bisons made their first trip to the national tournament in Jackson, Tennessee.

Will Brewer stands in front of the leader board in Burlington, NC, after winning the National Golf Tournament. Brewer captured the championship in 1976 and was named All-American in 1975 and 1977.

Still on the Ball

1968 — Bison baseball ranked in pre-season poll for the first time
1969 — Gymnastics team finishes fourth in the nation
1971-72 — Bison baseball team finish national runners-up
1973 — Baseball team finish national champions
1974 — Gymanstics team goes undefeated
1975 — Gymnastics team finishes sixth in the nation
1976 — Cross country places second in the nation
1977 — Bison Baseball team wins 2nd national championship
1978 — Lady Bison basketball is born
1980 — Gymnastics team finishes fifth in the nation
1981 — Bison baseball team goes to NAIA tourny with #2 ranking
1983 — Track team finishes second in Tennessee
1984 — Bison baseball team goes undefeated in regular season
1986 — Bison basketball team wins the national championship
1987 — Bison basketball team is ranked #1 in preseason poll for the first time
1988 — Bison baseball team wins 14th district title under Ken Dugan
1989 — Men's basketball team goes 38-2
1990 — Philip Hutcheson becomes the all-time scoring leader in college basketball
1991 — Bison basketball team makes the quarterfinals of the NAIA tournament

Lipscomb's accomplishments in athletics have been numerous and impressive, but no doubt the best is yet to come.

Under the old wooden backboard of Burton Gym, the players anticipate a jump ball. The enthusiasm of players and spectators alike at DLU is nothing new, simply a tradition begun early in the history of Lipscomb's athletis programs.

A Changing Campus

While the heart of David Lipscomb University has stayed the same, the outside of the school has undergone numerous changes in 100 years. The Nashville Bible School began in a rented two-story building on Fillmore Street. For the second session the school moved to South Cherry Street. The third session saw yet another location — a brick house and some land on Spruce Street.

The school moved to its permanent campus its thirteenth year, sixty-two acres on Granny White Pike donated by David Lipscomb. The extra space was needed for the expansion to a senior college. Harding Hall, men's dormitory Lindsay Hall, and Old Avalon Home, the women's dormitory, were the only buildings in the beginning. Of course, the number of campus buildings grew over time. When both dormitories burned in 1929-1930, they were replaced by Sewell and Elam Halls. Later years saw more dormitories and various academic buildings. During the past few years alone, several renovations and additions significantly changed the face of DLU, such as the new library, whose improved atmosphere offered comfortable surroundings for study and occasional socializing. The Student Activities Center also provided opportunities to fill students' spare time, with facilities for racquetball, aerobics and many other healthful and entertaining pursuits. Extensive landscaping such as that at the school's entrances also enhanced the campus atmosphere. No doubt the University will make even greater progress in expansion of its campus in years to come.

One of the oldest dorms on campus, Johnson Hall provides housing for some women students as well as for the publications offices. Johnson has served as home for both men and women at different times in the past.

Enjoying some free time, students gather to talk on the steps of Sewell Hall. Sewell was among the original dormitories after the fires of the 1929-30 session.

The Burton Bible Building shows its recently-polished exterior to the traffic on Lipscomb Boulevard. The building was changed to house the Bible department after serving as the administration building for decades.

Showing the marked growth in enrollment in the past decades, graduates line up in front of Alumni Auditorium when graduation ceremonies could be fit in there. Present-day graduation ceremonies fill the gymnasium.

Academic Tradition

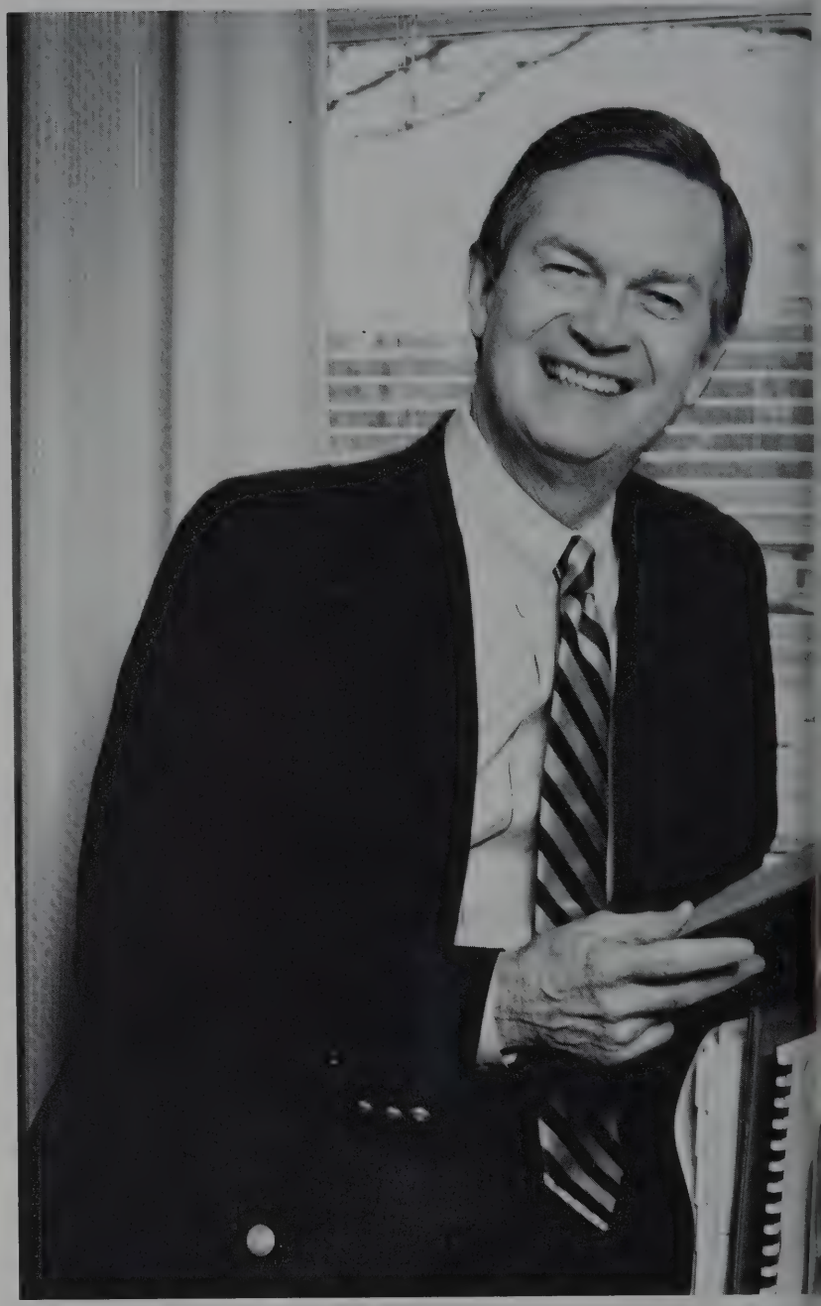
The emphasis placed on academics today at DLU is due largely to the history of such within the school. Nashville Bible School was founded in response to the need for a college that Christians could attend to learn about Christ as well as secular subjects. It opened with two Bible teachers and one general education teacher.

The academic program at NBS grew rapidly, and by 1901 degrees were offered. Students were active academically outside the classroom in literary societies, debates, spelling bees and singing contests.

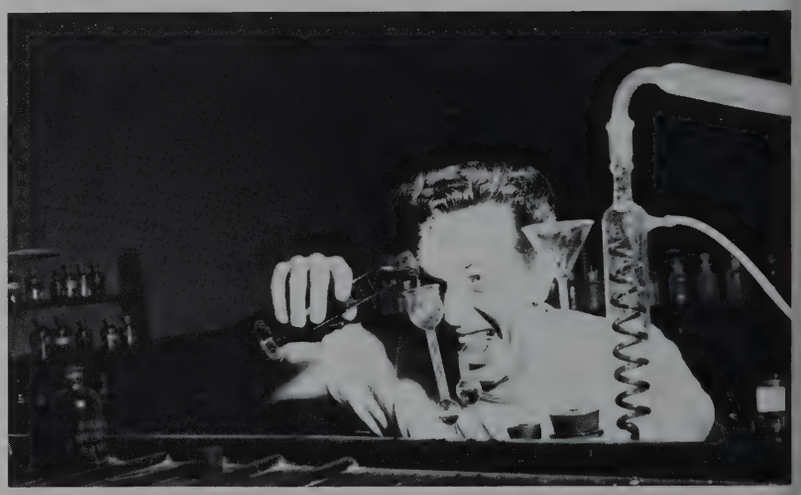
In 1915 NBS announced its having qualified as a junior college. After David Lipscomb College had become a four-year institution, the 1950's saw the acceptance of DLC into the Southern Association of Colleges and Schools. Also in this decade was an upspring of honorary and professional societies, and Lipscomb became a powerhouse in forensic competitions.

Progress and growth continued in the following years. In 1982 the college purchased a mainframe computer, laying the groundwork for the time when computers would be employed in every office and classroom. Celebration came in 1988 when DLC achieved university status.

Presently, David Lipscomb University offers over 60 majors and an extensive selection of courses. Charging into the nineties, DLU made history when it became the first university to set up a system allowing students to hook up to the mainframe computer from their dorm rooms. With such innovations and a focus on academic preparedness, David Lipscomb University continues to progress toward its goal of preparing students for all parts of life.



Good study habits come straight from the top, as President Harold Hazelip spends some time with a book of his own.



A student of 1948 exhibits a disposition not unlike that of some students today. A variety of experiences, including labs, gives students a better understanding of their subjects of study.

Playing to a packed house, Diamond Rio helps the students celebrate the centennial year with their popular country songs. The Thursday-evening appearance highlighted the week of fun and festivities sponsored by the school and the ASA.

Dropping by in style, radio station 103.3 KDF brings their own real rock and roll to the Lipscomb campus as they broadcast live from the celebration on the lawn. The centennial celebration helped produce more of a community awareness of DLU's presence in Nashville.

In a rare stampede to enter Alumni Auditorium, the students wait for the doors to open for the Diamond Rio concert, showing that country music is still alive and well on college campuses. Diamond Rio proved to be one of the biggest crowd-attracters in DLU's history.

Showing the university's emphasis on academics, President Harold Hazelip speaks during the dedication of the new library. The library caters to the changing needs of students, including study rooms.

Party of a Century

The 100th birthday of David Lipscomb University warranted a celebration to be remembered, and Lipscomb students, faculty and administration rose to the occasion. Though the actual anniversary was Saturday, October 5, the entire week preceding it was filled with activities. Each day saw guest speakers in chapel services, individuals who figured into Lipscomb's history in an important way. Those speakers, including President Emeritus Willard Collins, related anecdotes from their experiences at Lipscomb and gave current students a feel for the Lipscomb of the past. Friday's chapel service climaxed the week, however, as university students, students from other Lipscomb schools, alumni, members of the board of directors and faculty and administration garbed in full academic regalia assembled in McQuiddy Gym for an hour-long chapel service. President Harold Hazelip presided, and Dr. Gerald Turner, chancellor of the University of Mississippi, brought the day's message.

Later that day, the new library, perhaps the most exciting of current renovations, was dedicated, followed by a fireworks display. The school also enjoyed increased notoriety as the section of Belmont Boulevard from Woodmont to Shackleford became Lipscomb Boulevard.

In addition to these activities, the week of Lipscomb's centennial celebration included the ASA Birthday Bash with the appearance of Diamond Rio in concert on Thursday. The school enjoyed a week-long party, full of events that involved people from all over the campus and the community in one of the highlights of David Lipscomb University's existence.

History of DLU

On October 5, 1991, David Lipscomb University celebrated its centennial. Founded by David Lipscomb and James A. Harding in 1891, Lipscomb today maintains the distinctions involved in being a school of the Bible. Through its ten decades, the school has grown from nine students studying in a rented house to 3800 students from the elementary to the graduate level studying on a multi-million dollar campus.

In its first years, the school now known as David Lipscomb University was called the Nashville Bible School. By its third year, the school had 42 students, including some women. By the second decade, enrollment had grown to 118 students. Construction began on residence halls, classrooms and, later, athletic buildings. The feeling of growth had created the desire for a permanent campus.

During its third decade, Nashville Bible School began operating with more security. By the end of the third decade, however, David Lipscomb was in poor health, and he passed away on November 11, 1917. In his honor Nashville Bible School was renamed David Lipscomb College.

In the 1920's curriculum was standardized. Substantial gifts were given in order to fund the education of those who were unable to afford to pay themselves.

By the 1930's student recruitment became priority for DLC. The result was an enrollment of more than 400 students, even during the depression. Much money was raised in campaigns to repay the school's debts.

History

During World War II, the student body diminished — men in the college numbered fewer than fifty. Crisman Memorial Library, Johnson Hall and McQuiddy Gymnasium were constructed. By 1948 the campus enrollment had not only rebounded but had reached 1304 students.

The college became accredited in the 1950's, and enrollment grew as never before. Elam Hall was completed, and construction on Fanning Hall began. Lipscomb gained recognition as a quality senior college.

During the turbulent sixties, Lipscomb admitted its first black students. High Rise Dormitory was built for men's housing at this time.

In the 1970's DLC made tremendous strides in athletics. Willard Collins was named Lipscomb's 16th president as well.

The 1980's saw the construction of the Swang Center and Yearwood Hall. President Collins retired in 1986, replaced by President Harold Hazelip. All of Lipscomb's achievements culminated in the school's achieving university status in 1987.

Currently, approximately 2500 students are enrolled at DLU. New library and athletic facilities have been completed, the campus has been landscaped, and a multitude of similar improvements have been made recently. Lipscomb's first century has been one of fulfilment, and its second century promises no less.

Dorm Life at DLU

Dormitories provide a unique social atmosphere. Among roommates and others living on the hall or suite, a student living on campus develops strong bonds of friendship. These friendships are special in that they encompass a broader base of people than just ones in a student's classes. Relationships spring up and are solidified between unlikely pairs.

The closeness of students in dorms necessitates these friendly ties. Students learn how to live with each other, how to deal with those minor disturbances when a neighbor plays their radio at 2500 decibels or decides to use all the hot water in their shower. Close proximity in women's dorms also means a communal closet: people borrow each other's clothes and pool resources for just the right look for that special date. Studying and snacking after hours are two favorite activities that become group projects that spill into halls and neighbors'rooms.

Living in a dorm definitely increases a student's knowledge of available campus activities. Concerts, lectures, special events and rushes are advertised by plastering signs all over campus with a ton of ads in the dorm for every pound elsewhere. A person in the dorm must make a concerted effort not to be involved in campus activities and know what is going on around campus.

Daily life in the dorm can be hectic, but these minor annonyances will all be forgotten as we look back on our "days in the dorm". We will remember the fun activities, the all-night study sessions, the "gab sessions" and, most of all, the friends we made while living in the dorms.

Day Student Experience

While most university students chose to live on campus, a surprisingly high percentage of students opted to live off-campus in any one of a number of situations. The day student population included apartment-dwellers, students who chose to live at home or moved in with other relatives, part-time students, and married students, both young couples and students who already had families. Obviously, many reasons existed for living off-campus.

Most day students agreed that while the day student experience was different, it was not at all unenjoyable, as some people might think. Often, living away from school resulted in greater freedoms and allowed students an education that did not consume all of their time. Of course, most students thrived in the campus scene, but those who did not prefer that situation were no less pleased and content. Where one lived was really simply a matter of preference, and either choice was potentially beneficial.

Both day students and those who lived on campus faced daily exasperations. For day students one hassle was Nashville traffic, and some commuters had quite a distance to travel each day. Inclement weather presented special problems as well. Day students sometimes found it difficult to schedule classes for convenience.

Despite its own peculiar difficulties, the educational experiences of day students at David Lipscomb University were as gratifying as those of campus residents. Realizing the advantages and disadvantages of each option allowed all types of students to enjoy their tenure at Lipscomb, regardless of where they chose to live while pursuing their college education.

DLU Concerts: Not the Same Old Song

Attending school in Music City, Lipscomb students had easy access to many very talented musical acts. Not only were concerts a chance to enjoy good music, but they provided an opportunity for socializing and taking a break from hectic schedules.

The school year began with two concerts back to back. First, No Exit, an advancing young band from Alabama, performed on the steps of Alumni Auditorium, while students enjoyed pizza and caught up on the summer's news. Another night, Blind Ambition played in Alumni Auditorium. The band, composed entirely of Lipscomb students, pleased nearly every taste in the audience with their repertoire of so many different styles.

The highlight concert of the year, however, was the Diamond Rio concert. A new act quickly rising to the top of the charts, the band was nominated for Group of the Year at the CMA Awards the night before the Lipscomb appearance. Some students arrived over an hour before the show began so they could get good seats to see lead singer Marty Roe, a Lipscomb alumnus, and the rest of the band perform to a packed house. That it was an incredible concert was the prevailing opinion, even among those who were not country music fans. Afterward the band signed autographs from the steps of Alumni.

A different source of entertainment was Bison Nights, a Lipscomb tradition, which provided students with an opportunity to enjoy the musical and comic talents of their peers on Thursdays. Crowds gathered in the student center to watch and enjoy the company of friends.

The Homecoming Tradition — 1991

The 1991 Homecoming celebration brought personalities from several of Lipscomb's ten decades together. Alumni poured onto campus November 9 to share in the celebration, which began with an award ceremony. Among the honors given was the prestigious title of "Representative of the Decade," awarded to Greg Eubanks for displaying the leadership and character encouraged by the university.

Following very impressive performances by numerous DLU music groups, Greg Eubanks, Bachelor of Ugliness, and Nina Hausmann, Miss Lipscomb, introduced the Homecoming court, the focus of which was Homecoming Queen Jennifer Johnston. Johnston, a member of Delta Sigma, was the David Lipscomb High School homecoming queen four years ago. "This was the first time I crowned someone twice," said President Hazelip.

Later everyone assembled in McQuiddy Gym for the basketball games against Arkansas Baptist. The Lady Bisons won 117-63, and the Bisons gained a 131-79 victory.

The day ended with the final presentation of Shakespeare's A Midsummer Night's Dream, in which the DLU stage saw a homecoming of its own, that of alumnus Sam Wallace, a professional actor. Homecoming day ended with laughter, and everyone could look back on the day with a smile.

Education at DLU

Inside the classrooms of David Lipscomb University, instructors encouraged students to learn not only the subject matter of a particular class, but how to employ that knowledge in practical situations. While all universities have capable faculty members, Lipscomb faculty strive for the success of each student. Along with their knowledge, their fairness, helpfulness, and genuine concern make Lipscomb's professors stand out from those of other universities. Robert Maynard Hutchins gave his thoughts on education: "My idea of education is to unsettle the minds of the young and inflame their intellects." If such is the goal of education, then Lipscomb enjoys tremendous success, as students' minds are challenged and their hearts are filled with the drive to learn and apply their knowledge. However, they are not left struggling without any answers — that is the advantage at Lipscomb. Hutchins also observed, "The object of education is to prepare the young to educate themselves throughout their lives." David Lipscomb University equips its students to do just that in all areas of life, including the spiritual, so students are given direction in their quest for answers. In the classrooms of Lipscomb, true, enduring education is the final product of the united efforts of its students and teachers.

Miss Lipscomb

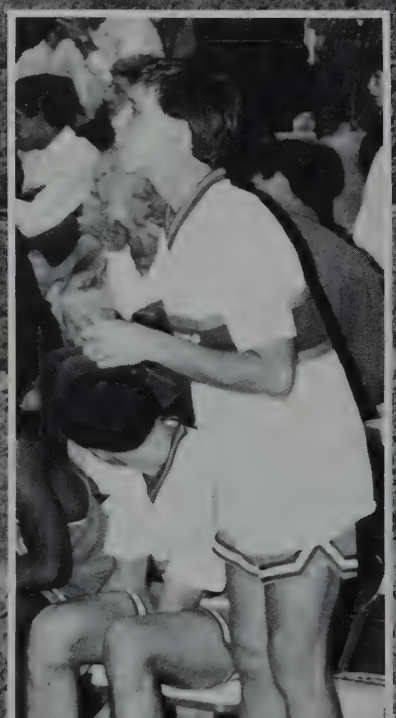
Bachelor of Ugliness

Each school year the student body of David Lipscomb University is given the opportunity to vote on which seniors, one man and one woman, most personify the ideals of the school. Miss Lipscomb and Bachelor of Ugliness are the most prestigious titles which can be obtained by election at Lipscomb. For 1991 the honors were awarded to Nina Hausmann and Greg Eubanks.

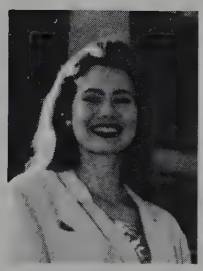
A business administration major from Nashville, Tennessee, Greg Eubanks is the son of Buford and Dot Eubanks. Like Nina, Greg played a prominent role in Bison basketball. He also served as a university representative. Greg said of his title, "It's a great honor because of past Bachelors of Ugliness and what great guys they were — that's what gives the title its prestige. Also, it's nice because it came from my peers, my friends, who thought enough of me to vote for me."

When asked how he felt about the award, Greg replied, ". . . it's nice because it came from my peers . . . who thought enough of me to vote for me."

Ed Bodnar



Nina, a fashion merchandising major from Columbia, Tennessee, is the daughter of Jan and Nina Hausmann. Nina was perhaps most wellknown for her contributions to the efforts of the Lady Bisons basketball team. However, she was also involved with mission campaigns in the Bahamas and was a member of Delta Theta Pi. Of the award Nina said, "There's no way for me to describe what this honor means to me except for saying it is exactly that — a real honor. Lipscomb has shown me what love is in its truest meaning . . . relationships — relationships with God, family, and friends. I have so many Christian friends, many dear friends here, and knowing that they are the ones who voted overwhelms me each time I think of what this title means. I'm very fortunate to be in and a part of a Christian environment such as David Lipscomb — the people are the difference."



Ed Bodnar

Nina spoke of being named Miss Lipscomb: "I have so many Christian friends (here), . . . and knowing that they are the ones who voted overwhelms me each time I think of what this title means."

RELIGION

City of Children

The "Americonos" working with the City of Children, the largest Christian children's home outside the United States, speak very little Spanish, but they still communicate with the children. The message the Americans bring to the children is that they are loved. The children seem to understand this message as they are taught about how God loves them.

A group from Lipscomb visited the home in Ensenada, Mexico, last spring. While they were there, thirteen of the children were baptized.

Poverty is so severe that children are forced to beg for food.

One of the students who visited the home said that most of the children "come from homes where their parents had to work most of the time and couldn't show the children the love they deserve, or they were abused, and some were orphaned."

"The children needed the love that only a parent can give," he said. "We gave them as much as we could. As much as the children clung to us, I think it was more difficult for us to let go than it was for them when it was time to leave."

Lipscomb students decided to help sponsor one of the children at the home. Lucio Chavez, 11, was selected as the child to be sponsored. At the age of eight, Lucio left his parents' home in Mexico City because the living conditions were bad and because his father abused him. He traveled 1,500 miles to the city of Mexicali, where the police picked him up and took him to the City of Children.

"We went to Ensenada not knowing what was in store for us," said the Lipscomb student. "We came back touched by the love the children had shown us. If you love children, get involved with this organization. You won't ever regret it."

Many of the children come from living conditions such as these. The destitution to which they are accustomed is virtually unfathomable for most DLU students.

Several of the children were converted and baptized while thhe DLU students visited.

The beautiful faces of these youngsters reflect the love they have to share if only they had others to return their affection. Both financial and personal support are needed to carry on the work of providing for them a hope for happier, more productive lives.

Teaching In PRAGUE

Last year a group of five led by Doug Varnado visited Prague, Czechoslovakia, to teach English using the Bible as text. Said Amy McCloy, "Going to Prague, Czechoslovakia, this past summer was the best thing I've ever done for myself. The places I saw, the students I taught will affect me for the rest of my life. My greatest hope is that I had to some extent the kind of impact on my students' lives that they have had on me." Students and faculty who have joined such ventures in mission work attest to the powerful effect the trips have made on their lives.

Lipscomb Efforts to Help Others

Altruism is a central principle in the Bible and is stressed at Lipscomb, not only in theory but by action. Efforts to show the love of God to others included the Habitat for Humanity project and a mission trip to Europe.

Habitat for Humanity is an alternative spring break activity. During spring break 1991, a group of nine from DLU, including Dr. Paul Prill, traveled to Pocahantas County, WV, to construct low-cost housing for individuals too poor to afford a home. The students joined other workers there, and together they filled each day with hard manual labor, seeing their work develop into houses for poorer citizens of the community.

Another project, scheduled for the summer of 1992, was the trip of three groups to Eastern Europe. In a time when communist rule was falling all around, enormous opportunities for spreading God's word where it had never been before presented themselves. At DLU many students took advantage of these opportunities granted by God. They planned to visit Vienna, Prague, and Kiev. Each of the groups was to teach English there using the Bible as text. While in Vienna, one group would work with the International Christian University. Those going to Kiev would not only teach English from scripture but would also deliver many boxes of medical supplies to the children's hospitals there. The stays in Vienna and Kiev were to be four weeks, the trip to Prague six weeks. Participants expected a good reception and had high hopes. Doug Varnado, who planned to make the trip to Kiev, stated his own personal goals as being to change the lives of others and to reach more people for God.

A Midsummer Night's Dream

Shakespeare's A Midsummer Night's Dream was the year's Homecoming production. Rather than Shakespeare's original setting of ancient Athens, Greece, the play was performed set in Athens, Georgia, in the 1940's. The exploits of Theseus and Hippolyta, Hermia and Lysander, Demetrius and Helena, Oberon and Puck, and a host of hilariously simple clowns entertained the audience with carnival-type frivolity and the numerous encounters among characters with love some way or another gone awry.

Among the cast were Brian Grimes as Theseus; Lisa Nichols as Hippolyta; Gabe Potter as Lysander; Joe Lester as Demetrius; Dana Foust as Hermia; Loree Pritchett as Helena; David Driver as Egeus and Philostrate; Melissa Prichard as Titania; Crystal Reppart as Puck; and Lipscomb alumnus and professional actor Sam Wallace appearing as Oberon.

Other players included Kara McDowell, Heatharlane Hoyt, Britt Wiser, Steena Chamberlain, Eric Paisley, Todd Meredith, Craig Portwood, Jeff Hannel, Cameron Maness, Scott Ray, and Martina Ann Eddy.

1991 Spring Production The Visit

Last spring the drama department presented Friedrich Durrenmatt's The Visit in Arena Theater.

The Visit is a modern parable about greed and the power of money to corrupt the morals of an entire town to the point of killing someone. "It is a tragicomedy. It is a serious subject but developed with a lot of comic elements which some people may find disturbing. But that is the point of the play. Audiences are supposed to find it disturbing."

Brown decided the previous summer to perform the play.

"I wanted it to contrast in style and type of theater to Pirates of Penzance," said Brown. Pirates of Penzance was the Homecoming musical in 1990. "I think variety is an important part of an education theater program."

Cast members of The Visit included Tami Harvell portraying Claire Zachanassian; Gabe Potter as the Schoolmaster; Brian Games as the Mayor; and Kristi Bies, Joel Boone, Jon Carter, Tracy Dean, David Driver, Lisa Hall, Rebecca Hill, Clint Hoppes, Jason Lancaster, Cameron Maness, Blaec Martin, Elizabeth Miller, Eric Paisley, Loree Pritchett, Crystal Reppart, Todd Smith, Wendy Wallace and Brad Ward.

Freshman Chorus and Early Music Consort

Freshman chorus, a vocal ensemble consisting of 46 freshmen, is directed by Dr. James Jackson, Chairman of the Department of Music. The chorus began the year by writing and directing the Seventh Annual Freshman Personalities Show. The theme was Century II at DLU: A Brand New Day, and the show was performed September 27 and 28. Featuring music from "The Phantom of the Opera" and "Carousel" as well as other musicals, the show provided an opportunity for chorus members to become better acquainted. Accordiing to Dr. Jackson, "It is challenging to take a diverse group and unite them in harmonic ensemble as well as friendship which lasts a lifetime."

Along with the Freshman Personalities Show, the freshman chorus performed concerts for area congregations. During spring break, the students traveled to Kentucky, Ohio, Indiana, Michigan, and West Virginia on a recruiting tour.

Acapella and Chorale

Acappella, Lipscomb's accomplished vocal ensemble, consists of 46 vocalists directed by Dr. Larry Griffith. Among the group's activities were a performance of Mozart's "Requiem" with the Tennessee Tech Chorale and the Nashville Symphony Orchestra in Cookeville, Tennessee; a trip to the Christian College Choral Festival at Lubbock Christian College in Lubbock, Texas, with performances for churches in several states along thhe way; and an effort to use vocal music as a ministry by traveling to England to work with congregations in a "Choral Mission".

Chorale, another vocal ensemble, changed its format this year from mixed ensemble to ladies' ensemble. The thirteen ladies are directed by Dr.Griffith.

Chorale sang for special events, such as dinners and banquets, as well as for church programs. The group also traveled to North Carolina and Virginia for a weekend trip.

Concert and Jazz Bands

The Lipscomb concert and jazz bands contribute to the wide variety of music performed and appreciated in the community. Less than forty brass, woodwind, and percussion players comprise the concert band, which is under the direction of Dr. Stephen Rhodes. Their music repertoire includes a unique blending of styles, from marches to folk songs to modern compositions to British brass band pieces to Bachian chorales. Music majors and enthusiasts alike enjoy participating in the program and attending the concerts held in Alumni Auditorium.

The jazz band, also under Dr. Rhodes' expert direction, rehearse and practice to perfect their rhythm and blues, classic and modern jazz selections, rock and roll and moody ballads. When the group finally performs, there is a balance between outstanding solo performances and fine sectional highlights.

Art at DLU

The year was busy for students and faculty involved in art activities at David Lipscomb. Several students prepared exhibits as did Carolyn McDonald, art instructor, who realized one of her life's dreams with an exhibit in the Parthenon in March.

Other activities included a trip to Washington, D.C., by the art club in April. They planned to visit various museums and art galleries to view the works of other talented artists.

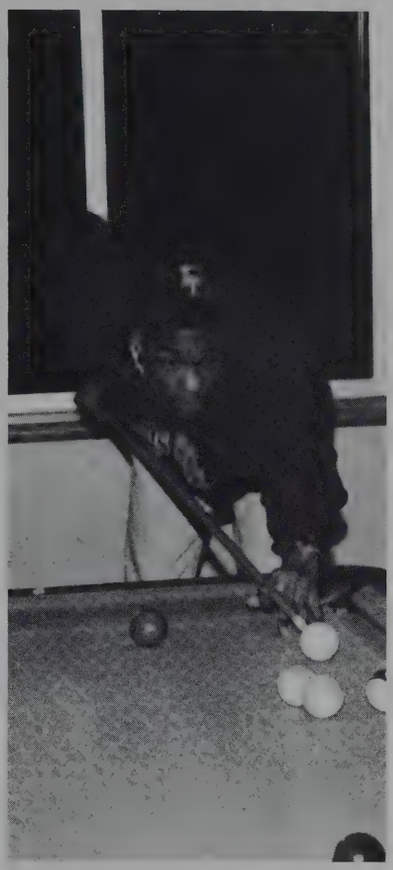
Intramurals



The opening of the Student Activities Center, the new tennis courts and the new intramural athletic field immediately did great things for the intramural program, according to Jeff Spivey, Director of Intramurals.

No longer faced with conflicts with the varsity basketball and baseball schedules, Spivey was able to move the intramural basketball program to a single night per week in the SAC. The new racquetball courts allowed for tournaments in that increasingly popular sport, including tournaments for faculty and staff.

The SAC also allows the university population to exercise conveniently and according to choice. The upstairs oval track is extremely popular, and many take advantage of the weight room and aerobics room.

Springtime activities will be greatly enhanced by the new facilities. The new tennis courts will allow for team tournaments, and intramural soccer will be offered for the first time on the new field. Weekend tournaments will be offered for those staying on campus on weekends, including coed softball and soccer.

Lipscomb students can now enjoy and participate in an intramural program conducted with excellent and varied facilities. This advantage should improve morale and enjoyment across the campus.

Cheerleaders

The varsity cheerleaders hosted a camp for highschool cheerleaders last summer before making preparations for the 1991-92 basketball season. Three-a-week practices and participation in a gymnastics course sharpened their skills, producing another vital, acrobatic squad. The group also competed in the national cheerleader contest in Dallas. As the spring semester moved into conferences games, the cheerleaders began making plans for a return with the team to Kansas City.

The 1991-92 year saw the debut of women's cross country at Lipscomb. The Lady Bisons program had minimal or no funding what so ever, but the program's inception was enhanced by the high marks the team achieved.

A commendable level of success was reached the first year as the Lipscomb lady runners placed second in the District 24 tournament. Joy Chadouin qualified, by placing 4,to compete as an individual in the national meet, which was held in Kenosha, Wisconsin.

Baseball

On April 6, 1991, the magnificent new Dugan field was dedicated in honor of Coach Ken Dugan, who was in his 32nd year as head coach of the Bisons. The quality of the new field was apparent at a glance, but evidence of how fine it truly was came in the District 24 tournament. All other neighboring fields were unsuitable for play because of heavy rains, but Dugan Field was ready. The crowning moment came when the Bisons won the championship, a fitting tribute to themselves and their veteran coach.

The Bisons finished that season 35-13. Among the outstanding players was Dwayne Snider, who was named first team All-American for his play.

Tragedy visited the Bisons and the Lipscomb campus the following season when outstanding pitcher Scott Shannon died of cancer on November 5, 1991. A memorial service was held in McQuiddy Gymnasium.

The 1992 season will see Coach Dugan reach the mark of 1000 wins, a record achieved by only a half-dozen collegiate baseball coaches. A noted author of books on baseball himself, Coach Dugan is featured in a book by Mike Koehler called America's Greatest Coaches, published in 1990.

The 1992 season will include the annual spring break trip to Ormond Beach, Florida, the city which has graciously adopted the Bisons as their own for over twenty years. A cavalcade of Bison parents and supporters visit Ormond Beach each year, where the Bisons as the home team host a variety of visiting teams.

The 1992 Bisons feature one of the best group of freshmen in recent years. Coach Dugan is especially proud of his athletes' academic records. In fact the overall GPA of all Lipscomb athletes is above 3.1, higher than that of the student body at large.

Bison Basketball

Lipscomb's nationally ranked basketball team made its sixth trip to the NAIA national tournament in March of 1991, advancing to the third round. The fall season began another season of consistent victories under Coach Don Meyer and assistant coaches Ralph Turner and Mike Roller. Many Bison wins were by wide margins, but victories ove Belmont and Trevecca on the road were close as the conference games got under way during the spring semester. Achievments by the end of February included a fifth-straight TCAC championship and a sixth-strait winning of tthe TCAC Commissioner's Tournament. The Bisons were ranked number 2 or 3 throughout the year as they prepared for post season play and a return to Kansas City.

Individual leaders of the Bisons were junior guard Jerry Meyer and sophomore center John Pierce. During the 1991-92 season Meyer was ranked second in the nation in assists and began closing in on the recorrd as college basketball's all-time assist leader. As a sophomore he broke the NAIA single season record with 424. He was named Naia All-American (3rd team) for 1990-91. Holding a 4.0 GPA, Meyer was named Academic All-American for 1989-90 and 1990-91. He was joined in that honor the latter year by teammate Brian Ayers.

Pierce was named 1990-91 NAIA All-American (Honorable Mention) and made the 1991 NAIA National Tournament All-Tournament team. For 1991-92, he was named a preseason All-American by two magazines, and during the season he was named four times NAIA District 24 Player of the Week, NAIA Player of the Week for January 12-18, and Small College Player of the Week for Sports Illustrated January 19-25. He was Most Valuable Player in the 1991 TCAC Commissioner's Tournament and also in the Purity Bison Classic.

Lady Bisons

Having finished the 1990-91 season with a 24-9 record, the women's basketball team began the fall with veteran players. During another winning season senior Cheryl Smith became the university's all-time leading scorer, and Nina Hausmann graduated as the school's all-time leading rebounder. Smith and Hausmann were two of only three players in the school's history to score over 2000 career points, and they along with senior Deborah Spencer and sophomore Beth Willis made up a foursome of players on the same Lady Bison team each of whom had scored over 1000 career points.

Men's Tennis

The spring 1991 season saw the men's tennis team win the Tennessee Collegiate Athletic Conference championship after attaining a 15-8 record. Dan King and Steven Bryant were also the TCAC champions in number three doubles. Two of the players, Mike Carmody and Clark Archer, were named NAIA scholar athletes. As the 1992 season approached, coach Lynn Griffith was approaching his 200th match win.

Women's Tennis

Senior Stephanie Shouse, one of the finest players ever on Lipscomb's women's tennis team, led the 1990-1991 team to a record of 16-8 overall and a mark of 12-6 in the TCAC. She placed second in the district tournament and finished her career with a season record of 19-3 overall and 15-3 in the conference.

Freshman Alison Berry, the number two player on the team, compiled a record of 19-3 (overall) and 16-2 (conference). She and Stephanie comprised the number one doubles team and registered 19-3 (overall) and 13-3 (conference). Meanwhile the number three team of Leigh Ann Bornstein and Jean Suffoletta had records of 17-5 (overall) and 13-3 (conference) and placed second in the district tournament.

Coach Trish Hodgson's 1992 squad will spend spring break playing at Hilton Head. Four players are returning, and three are new. Alison will hold the number one spot, and the next three positions will be filled with the new freshmen, a promising sign for the future.

Track

The Bison Track team performed well in several meets during the 1991 season. They placed third in the Berea Invitational and second in a meet at thhe University of the South. In the Vanderbilt Invitational, the 1600 meter relay was run by Jeff Clayton, Todd Cunningham and freshman Larry Alexander. Alexander took the baton in the last leg and blasted past the leading Emory runners to win first place in the event.

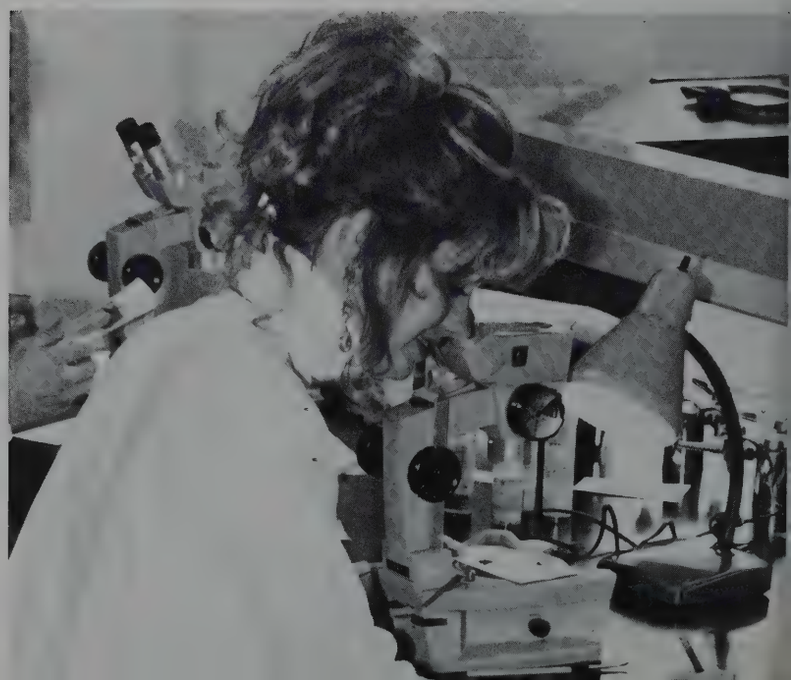
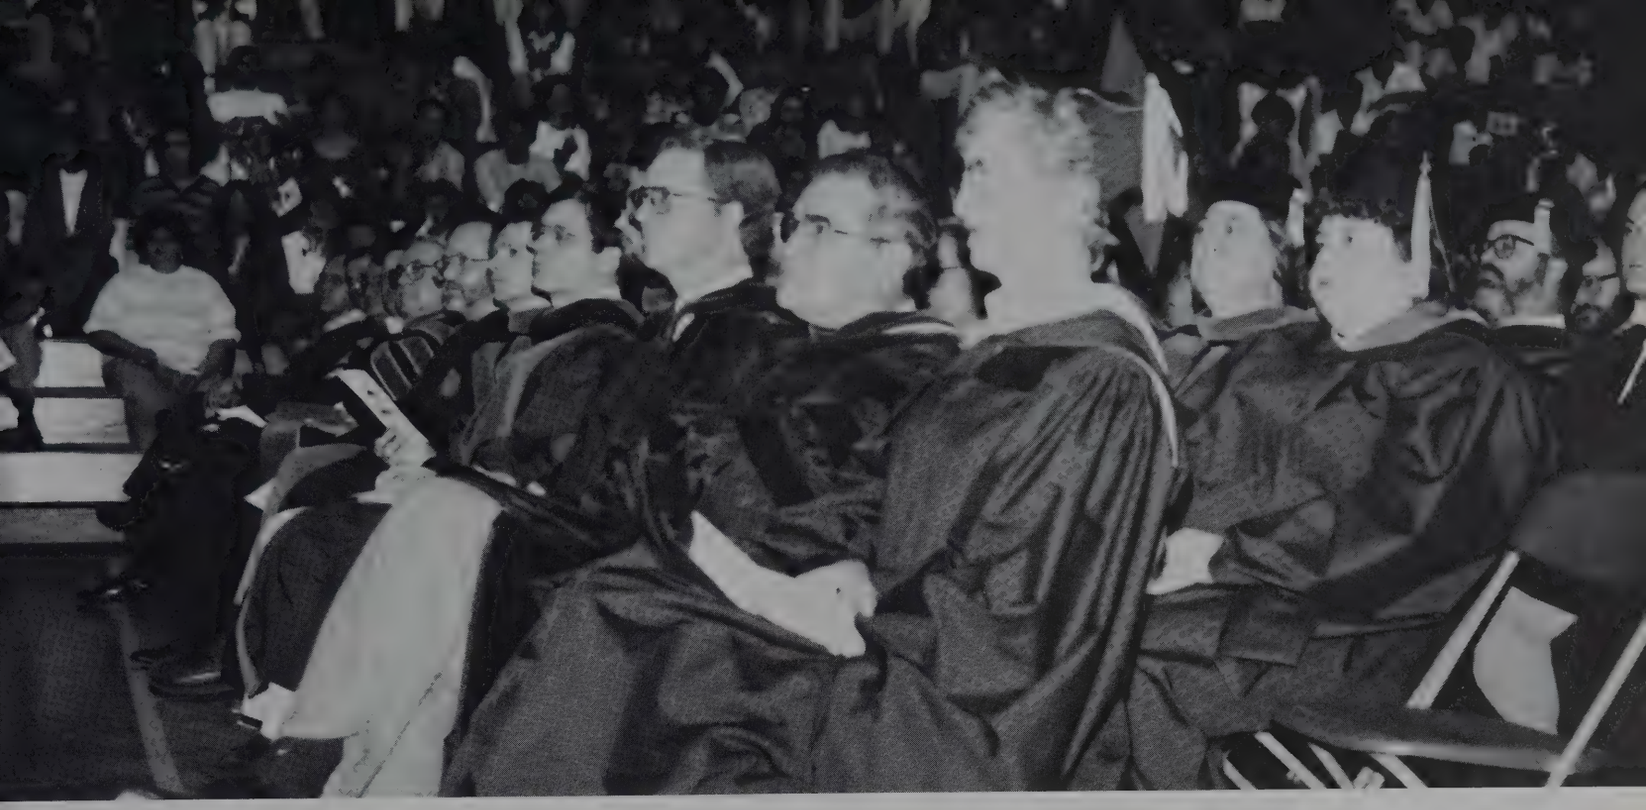
ACADEMICS





PRESIDENT

"I believe Lipscomb University is remarkably true to its founders' intentions. Teaching the text of the Bible itself to every student as an integral part of her/his education is still central to our mission.

"Lipscomb's board, administration, faculty and staff also are determined that no student shall receive an inferior education under the rubric of 'Christian education.' Efforts are constantly being made to increase the faculty's academic preparation for the classroom, and faculty freely give of themselves to students outside the classroom.

"Facility improvement has been a high goal in recent years at Lipscomb. The library, Student Activities Center, Swang Center addition, Crisman renovation and new athletic fields have inncreased our available space dramatically. Major renovations have occurred in our Student Center and dormitories.

"The computer networking of our campus is among the most advanced in the world. Every building, every dormitory room, every faculty office and every classroom may access the University's mainframe through fiber optic cable.

"In the midst of expansion, we continue to struggle with a declining pool of 18-year-old student prospects and a prolonged recessionary environment. Our greatest facility need is for a Fine Arts complex worthy of the faculty, students and programs which currently function in this area.

"I believe there has never been a time when Lipscomb University could be more proud of her students, her faculty and her campus than during the 101st year of her existence. We eagerly await what our 102nd year will bring."

Swang Retirement

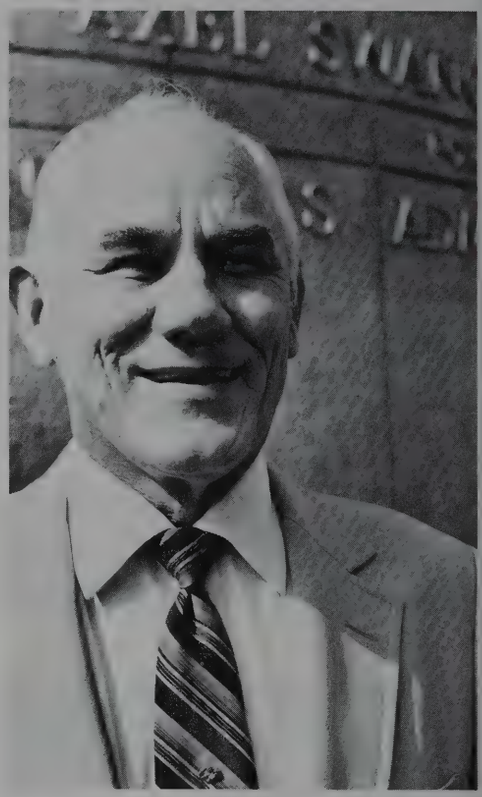
A Change in the Establishment

Dr. Axel Swang, chairman of the Department of Business Administration, is retiring after 45 years. Dr. Swang's influence on the growth of DLU's business department has been enormous. Since his arrival in 1947, the department has grown to offer seven majors and six minors, making it one of the largest on campus, with 700 students involved as confirmed or intended majors. Such competence on Dr. Swang's part attracts students to the department and to Lipscomb.

After retiring, Dr. Swang looks forward to spending time with his wife, traveling and visiting his family. He may, however, return to campus in an adjunct faculty position to teach some courses. Whatever retirement holds for Axel Swang, Lipscomb shows its gratitude and wishes him well.

— James Moore

"Students — yes, that's what they are, but later on they're friends for life. How many thousand friends do I have now." — Dr. Axel Swang



Beaming with that familiar warm smile, Dr. Axel Swang looks on with approval at the 1984 opening of the Axel Swang Building for Business Administration.

Eddie Thompson:

Vice President Leaves Lipscomb

"It would take a lot for me to leave Lipscomb," said Eddie Thompson, vice president for institutional advancement. But after much consideration he finally made that choice.

Thompson left Lipscomb to serve as chief executive of The EAR Foundation, with specific responsibilities for operations, strategy, increasing of public awareness of the foundation and development of an expanded fund-raising effort, according to Robert E. Boston, chairman of The EAR Foundation Board of Directors.

The nature of The EAR Foundation's work and a new professional challenge were among the factors which led him to accept the foundation's offer, Thompson said.

"To take your experience into a new situation is always exciting," Thompson said. "This foundation is doing wonderful things to meet specific needs in the lives of individuals in many parts of the country.

The EAR Foundation was established in 1971 as a not-for-profit organization to address the problems of ear-related disorders, specifically hearing loss and balance disturbances.

Thompson said the decision to leave Lipscomb "is the most difficult decision I've ever made. I love Lipscomb, and I love the people there . . . I plan to remain an active supporter of the university."

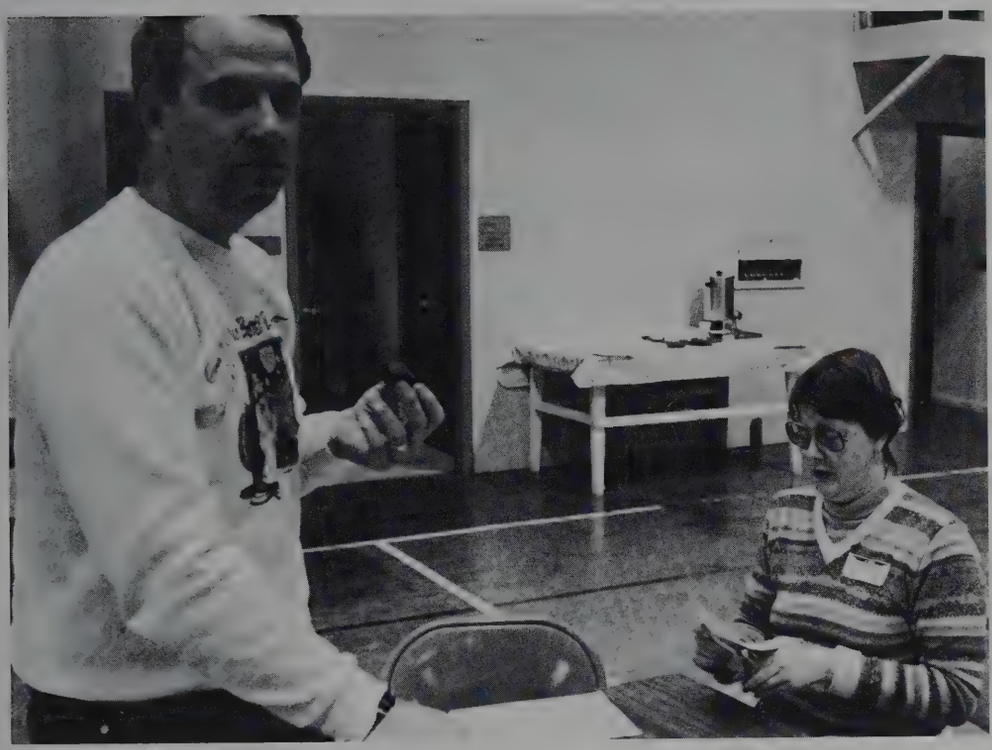
Dr. Hicks Leaves DLU



In May of 1992, Dr. Margaret Hicks and her husband Tom were scheduled to leave for Bucharest, Romania, where they would be doing mission work for 3-5 years.

Tom and Margaret gained an interest in Romania after working a 6 weeks mission there last summer. Lipscomb wishes them well in their efforts to convert those in foreign lands.

Freshman Personalities

The 7th Annual Freshman Personalities came to Alumni Auditorium Sept. 27-28. The show, a freshman production, involved the theme "Century II at DLU: A Brand New Day!" and took a look at "traditions and additions" to the school.

"The show is divided into three sections: old and lost traditions, classic and enduring traditions, and new and contemporary additions," said Dr. Jim Jackson, chairman of the music department.

DLU's Changing Campus

Though Lipscomb has typically had an attractive campus, this year extensive landscaping was been done to beautify the grounds even more.

The addition of all types of flowers, shrubs and trees campus-wide promises a stunning campus once these plants reach maturity.

The Battery

The pitcher and the catcher,
They must work as a team.
Together they guess, think,
Hope, pray and dream.

The catcher must decide
What pitch is to be thrown.
Maybe the curve, maybe the change,
Or should the smoke be blown.

The pitcher must remain calm,
Cool and collected in sight,
With the ball in his palm
To be successful tonight.

The two must find their rhythm
In a matter of an inning,
For if they don't
There will be no winning.

This combination is as old as the game,
Their conniving and their trickery
Will surely always remain,
The name of this team is "The Battery."

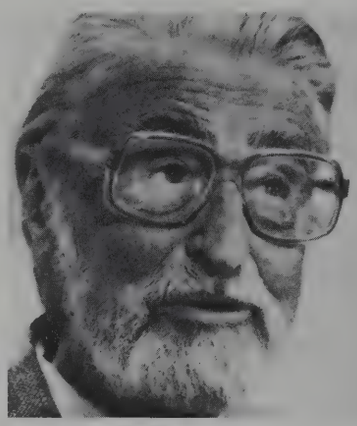
The Changing World Scene

Lipscomb students of 1991-1992 saw numerous changes both inside and outside the school. Each year leaves the world changed for every individual, but some events have had a strong impact on the people of the world collectively as well. The entire world turned their eyes to the Middle East as the Gulf War unfolded and brought victory to the countries of the world allied against the aggression of Saddam Hussein. Later months witnessed the elimination of communism in Eastern Europe and the shocking disintegration of the Soviet Union. The upheaval of communism as a political system produced aftershocks internationally which have transformed the world for all time. Strains on Japanese-American trade relations also increased, reaching a fever pitch among American workers.

Events on an international level concerned American citizens as they viewed the atrocities of war, the hardships of Kurdish refugees, the blazing oil fields of Kuwait, political unrest, including coup attempts, in the Soviet Union and all over Eastern Europe, and the worries of a global depression. However, America encountered its own problems as well. Domestic dissatisfaction with the economy appeared to increase. Scandal concerning political figures was highly publicized, in particular the hearings involving sexual harrassment charges against Supreme Court nominee Clarence Thomas by a former aide, Anita Hill.

Accusations came against not only politicians but against popular figures, such as boxing champion Mike Tyson, who was convicted of rape in February.



Dr. Seuss, creator of unusual but classic children's books, died in 1991.

The nation was shocked by the fall of another of its sports icons when Earvin "Magic" Johnson announced that he had tested HIV-positive, bringing to the forefront the AIDS crisis in this country as Johnson determined to campaign for AIDS education and prevention.

Within this time period the nation lost some of its personal treasures with the passing of such figures as veteran newscaster Harry Reasoner and cherished actor Michael Landon. The nation also grieved the losses of two literary figures, though their contributions to the world of literature were extremely different. Alex Haley, author of Roots and respected figure among African Americans, passed away, as did Theodore Geisel, better known to children and adults alike as Dr. Seuss, the very talented writer of unique children's books.

Though the negative events typically receive more attention, the period was marked by positive happenings as well. Americans rejoiced as American forces returned home in triumph after Operation Desert Storm. Another notable who returned was Terry Anderson, who was released from Lebanon after having been hostage there for 6 1/2 years. During the summer the world stood in awe as day turned to blackness when the moon eclipsed the sun, bringing night during the day to viewers in Mexico and Hawaii where total eclipse occurred.

Towering above the barren landscape, an oil well set ablaze by Iraqis provides a back-drop for a weary Kuwaiti. More than 730 oil wells were consumed during the Iraqi occupation.

Carrying a child in his arms, a Kurdish refugee flees after the failed attempt to oust Saddam Hussein. At least 6,700 refuges died, 63% of whom were children under five.

Flanked by President Bush, Clarence Thomas addresses an audience. Despite allegations of sexual harrassment, Thomas was confirmed as 106th Supreme Court Justice.

I've seen many changes this year in different aspects of my life. I've made new friends, lost old ones. I found out what responsibility is when I took on the job as editor of the Backlog. I gained an even heavier burden when my father died. It's been a year of change. After the events of this year I don't think my life will ever be the same.

I want to thank everyone who has helped me through those changes, you know who you are, so I won't mention names. It's to you people that I wish to dedicate the book. You are the ones who will make Lipscomb what it is to become.
